NOTICE: SEVERE SEAFOOD ALLERGY ALERT AT SCHOOL

Dear Families of Ridgevalley,

This is a notice to remind everyone that we do have students and staff at school with food allergies. We strive to be a "nut aware" facility as there are several students with nut allergies.

Our newest teacher, Miss Lynn Anderson, has a severe allergy to all fish and shellfish, including fish oils. There is a very real danger that Miss Anderson will have a life-threatening anaphylactic reaction if exposed to any type of fish or shellfish, residue left on surfaces around the school, even the smell of fish. Miss Anderson teaches students in grade five, eight and eleven so she interacts with students in all areas of our school. Miss Anderson also has lunch room supervision in the cafeteria with all the junior and senior high students.

Kindly keep in mind when packing lunch for your child(ren) that we are now a "nut and seafood aware" facility. We appreciate your support in keeping Ridgevalley a safe place for all our students and staff.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Rose
Principal
